EST MODES IN BERTS. WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1885

Bhours promises are not good things to go to the polls with, in spite of all the loud mouthed praise that will be havished upon the present Ministry, ugly questions will occur to the minds of the voters, they very thoroughly occurred to the of many of the native voters, we near. We have got to keep prominently sefore us, that it is reform that is wanted, not the downfall of a Ministry, not the exsibility of a return to the present position of affairs. Power has been centralized and centralization is the curse of good government. You want men to be actively interested in the carrying out of the machinery of government. Centralization deadens political life, and it is centralization that we have to contend against. It is useless at this moment to develop the scheme by which the present centralization may be superseded by a wider and botter system, better for people and for sovereign. The first step the Independents may to take its that compact was a thorsovereign. The first step the Independents may to take its in the compact was a thorsovereign. The first step the Independent party will be no superseded by a wider and better system, better for people and for sovereign. The first step the Independent party will be no superseded by the will be no superseded by the source of the compact could never have been carried out, had not the American line had a hold out, had not the American line had a hold will advance broad ideas against the nar-row and mean ones of the Government

We have here men, citizens of this country, amply capable, with an interpreter, of investigating, in an impartial spirit, any labor trombles that may occur; it seems a terrible shu to east upon the present residents of these Islands, that among them, as deaned but one to do the work of Inspector, the Hon A. S. Cleghorn, who is nominated as bead of the Commission, and who has not recently done active work. Why have alone been appointed as Inspectors! Simply this, the Havenian Islands, run as they have been lately, are in terror of the Japanese. The Ministry have so involved themselves with Japan, that many would say our very independ ence was threatened.

Tm steamer line between New Zealand and San Francisco is to be continued, and and San Francisco is to be continued, and the contract for it has been given, as was forshadowed in these columns, to the surviving representative of John Elder & Co., Mr. Pierce. The service between New in eighteen days. It is satisfactory to know that the matter has at last been settled. It is stated in San Francisco that the American Sugar Refinery has entered

A GALLANT STRUGGLE. THE PURITAN BEATS THE GENESTA

NEW FORK, Sept. 16—We will hold the cup. The Genesta made a plucky fight to take it back to the land from whence it came, but the Paritan beat her in her own favorite weather—strong winds and heavy seas—and the sembless of the yachting supremoty of the world was for a better than either to win and wear it. The Genesta is fast, but the Paritan is still faster, though only by I minute and 35 seconds in a race of forty miles, twenty before the wind and twonty against. It was the grandest race ever seen in these waters, and the hearts of all were now elated and now depressed as one or the other forged ahead, till all was forgotten in the glow of victory.

It is not hard to think of the race, of the fresh breeze, of the white capped sea, the dark copperfringed clouds that came up from the horizon, under which the water became pale emerald, after the rush of the vessels, the whisting of the ratiness, the snowy agread of the sails, the heel way over from the wind, and the dip and the plunge into the billows as they hastened on, but it is hard to tell it all is order. The secure comes back in one picture, and it must be told in many cold words, while the thought leaps away to the rush and rustle of the wind-swept sea.

The guests ran out from the city in the judge's boat, the ting lackednach. They saw the bay was deserted, save by a few steam yachts that were already starting for the Scotland lightship. The sailing vessels had spread there canvas at the first streak of down, when a gentle wind was blowing and were then far down on the Hurseebos. There was but a slight breeze, and many thought it would be another disappointment. But few steams boats appeared at the Book when it was reached. Only scattered fragments of the mighty feet that had ebecred the Paritan's victory Monday were seathered captures and the first stress about the starting line, but there was no seathers about the starting line, but there was no seathers about the starting line, but there was no
